

On the edges:
Autodidacts, forgotten thinkers, silenced women
in twentieth-century South Africa

CENTRE FOR AFRICAN STUDIES GALLERY
Harry Oppenheimer Institute Building
UCT Upper Campus

23-24 April 2019

Day one

08:00 Registration, welcome tea & coffee

08:45 Introductory remarks Lungisile Ntsebeza

09:00 Keynote address

- Nomathamsanqa Tisani, ‘Collapsing Edges and Centre: Birthing amaziko of tertiary education in our time’

Chair: Lungisile Ntsebeza

10:00 Coffee break

10:30 Panel 1: Finding a voice

- Thozama April, ‘Rethinking Public Intellectuals: Charlotte Maxeke and the Black Atlantic’
- Corinne Sandwith, “‘Lady Porcupine’ as Marginal Intellectual’
- Precious Sharon Sinovuyo Bikitsha, ‘The Poet who rouses the Court and Censures the King’
- Peter Kallaway, ‘The Modernization of Tradition: Samuel Krune Mqhayi, Xhosa patriot, poet and historian, and the education of the Xhosa circa 1900 to 1945’

Chair: Jade Gibson

12:30 Lunch

13:30 Panel 2: Voices and spaces

- Crain Soudien, “‘With Them and of Them, Teaching and Leading Our People’”: The hidden history of the New Era Fellowship’

- Shahid Vawda, ‘Edging out of the Shadows: Halima Gool and writing under a pseudonym’
- Yunus Omar, ‘Never a “yes-man”’: Alie Fataar, teacher resistance, and connecting South Africa’s classrooms to global revolutionary goals’
- Christi van der Westhuizen, ‘The awkward Afrikaner: Dr Petronella “Nell” van Heerden, nationalist, feminist, socialist, anti-fascist, lesbian’

Chair: Allan Zinn

15:30 Tea break

16:00 Panel 3: Rethinking resistance

- Lungisile Ntsebeza, ‘Archie Mafeje: The impact of his politics on his scholarship’
- Allison Drew, ‘Gendering the history of South Africa’s socialist movement at the transition to armed struggle: Women’s experiences in the National Liberation Front’
- David Johnson, ‘Pan-Africanism or Communism? Mangaliso Robert Sobukwe, Jacob D. Nyaose, and political differences within the Pan Africanist Congress in the 1960s’

Chair: Andrew Nash

17:30 Aperitif

Day two

08:15 Good morning tea & coffee

08:45 Panel 4: Censorship and decolonization

- Kamohelo Mabogwane, ‘Between Two Books, Between Two Worlds: Politics and Power in the Publishing of Miriam Tlali’s First Novel – a case study of the Censorship Project’s legacy in South Africa’
- Bongani Ndhlovu, ‘Silences, Tactical Documenting and Frustrations in a Liberation Struggle Voice: David Cecil Oxford Matiwane and “A Treatise of Black Victimisation”’
- Kongo Minga Mbweck, ‘A Critique of Social Science: Empiricism and racism as catalyst for knowledge production of the Colonial discourses in Africa/South Africa’

Chair: Nkululeko Mabandla

10:15 Tea/coffee break

10:45 Panel 5: Experience and resistance

- George Hull, ‘N. Chabani Manganyi on consciousness as a basis for resistance’
- Raymond van Diemel, “‘No short cut to Liberation”’: The life and times of Otilie Abrahams, Namibian educationalist and activist’
- Ntobeko Dlamini, “‘Inkosazana yamaWisile”’: The untold story of the first black woman ordained in the Methodist Church of Southern Africa, Reverend Nikiwe Mbilini’
- Leo Podlashuc, “‘Wisdom from the Shacks”’: Sis Pat Matolengwe, an organic intellectual from the university of poverty’

Chair: Chris Saunders

12:45 Poetry reading – Simphiwe Msizi, ‘Is Biko dead ... really?’

13:15 Closing remarks Allison Drew

13:30 Lunch

14:30 Book Launches:

- June Bam, Lungisile Ntsebeza and Allan Zinn, editors, Whose History Counts: Decolonising African Pre-colonial History.
- Ruben Richards, Bastaards or Humans: The Unspoken Heritage of Coloured People.

16:00 Snacks & drinks

